Turman Commercial Painters covers East Coast with new office in Charlotte Office already growing

Livermore, CA – October 5, 2009 – Turman Commercial Painters, (www.turmaninc.com) a California based commercial painting contractor with offices in California, Oregon and Washington has opened an office in Charlotte, North Carolina to expand its business nationwide – and already is looking to grow.

Turman Commercial Painters combined with its affiliates is the largest commercial painting contractor on the West Coast and has chosen an office at 658 Griffith Road to house its new East Coast expansion. The office will be used to accommodate its estimators, oversee its crew of painters for East Coast client jobs and handle customer service a hallmark of the firm. The office officially opened in early September, staffed initially by Estimator Doug Rancati. Due to the success of its East Coast office, the company has already added another estimator and is looking at a larger facility in Charlotte. Rancati anticipates the office will grow over the next 18 months to 3 – 4 estimators and 40 – 50 field staff. “We chose Charlotte over other East Coast options because of its central location, attractive cost of living, great quality of life and skilled workforce,” says Rancati. “The business we are seeing from our Charlotte office has already outpaced our expectations.”

Turman Commercial Painters was founded in 1972 and has over 200 employees nationwide. Despite the economic downturn, the organization has seen significant growth in the last two years and added the Charlotte office to accommodate the growth of its East Coast business. “We have successfully diversified our business during the downturn both into new business types and new markets,” says Rancati. “Our expansion into Charlotte is a continuation of that diversification.” Turman Commercial Painters specializes in commercial paint work including rebranding, tenant improvement, building exterior, retail, medical and hospitality jobs. Notable clients include AT&T, Starbucks, US Bank, Chase, Smith Barney and others. Turman Commercial Painters projects with national distinction include Oracle Arena, the Inn at Suncadia Resort, Lawrence Livermore National Lab and the Sir Francis Drake Hotel renovation.

“We look forward to being an active member of the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce and the business community,” says Rancati.
